EXHIBIT B

Scope of Work For Peer Review of the Edward Aquifer Recovery Implementation Program's Science Subcommittee's "k" Charge Recommendations

Sustainable Ecosystems Institute ("SEI") will conduct a peer review of the EARIP's Science Subcommittee recommendations of the "k" charges" described in the Request for Proposal provided to SEI by the EARIP in conformance with this Statement of Work ("SOW"), and SEI's Proposal for Peer Review ("Proposal") (attached hereto as Attachment 1). To the extent that there is a conflict between the RFP or Proposal and this SOW, the SOW will govern the conduct of the work.

After initial scoping and review of materials and questions, SEI will set up a process that will provide a clear, transparent peer review of the highest caliber. SEI will use a peer review process that is well-documented and which can be shown to be impartial. The following describes the specific tasks that will be used to meet these needs and provide a clear record.

Task 1: Scoping of review: Conclusions regarding documents to review and reviewer expertise

SEI will review the Science Subcommittee's recommendations and assemble a panel of four-to-five scientists. Based on the RFP, SEI has initially determined that panel of experts should focus primarily on hydrological issues but also include ecological or species specific expertise. Accordingly SEI intends to put together a panel comprised of three hydrologists (with at least one scientist with expertise in karst systems), a population biologist, and a quantitative expert. SEI's initial determination regarding the expertise on the panel may be refined after SEI reviews the Science Subcommittee's recommendations.

Task 2: Selection of reviewers

SEI will follow its normal procedures in selecting highly-qualified reviewers who are able to review the materials. SEI will solicit the names of possible reviewers from SEI board members, from previous SEI panelists, from other eminent scientists, and from SEI's standing panels of experts in various fields. SEI will develop a file for each scientist considered as a reviewer, and the reasons for selecting (or not selecting) that scientist will be included in that file.

After considering the available pool of reviewers, SEI staff will select those reviewers who best meet the criteria of scientific eminence and experience, and who also pass all other criteria of independence and impartiality set out in the RFP. SEI will interview the reviewers, record their responses, and ask them to sign statements attesting that they have no conflicts of interest (as per National Academy and SEI guidelines, and as in RFP).

To ensure that the review is independent of the stakeholders and interested parties, the EARIP, its Science Subcommittee or Program Manager will not control or be involved in the selection of the reviewers.

Task 3: Preparation of reviewers

After SEI has selected reviewers, panelists will be provided with background and other materials as soon as they become available, through SEI's dedicated wiki-site (see below). SEI will also set up conference calls with reviewers, and facilitate discussions ahead of the actual review. SEI staff will work with individual panelists to ensure that they understand the materials, the review requirements, and their individual tasks.

Task 4: Wiki site

SEI will maintain a clear record of all materials disseminated to the reviewers, the communications between SEI and the reviewers and among the reviewers, and individual reviewer's responses using SEI's wiki. The individual and group reports will also be crafted on-line, so that there will be a complete record of any changes made to any document. SEI will ensure that the site is secure so that EARIP participants may watch the review unfold, but will not be able to comment on the reviews unless expressly allowed by SEI in the limited circumstances described below.

Task 5: Preparation of review

To obtain the individual opinions of reviewers, SEI will require that each reviewer provide written responses to a series of review questions. SEI will also allow reviewers to discuss their responses, the issues involved, and to modify their written responses in light of such discussions. SEI will reflect any differences of opinion among the reviewers in the final report.

After a draft final report has been completed, SEI will allow the Science Subcommittee to interact with the review panel under SEI supervision, by asking questions, or by providing additional material as requested by the reviewers. This will be accomplished either by allowing the Science Subcommittee access to the wiki or through a recorded conference call. SEI will work with Susan Aragon-Long, the chair of the Science Subcommittee, to set up the arrangements for the interactive process. At the close of the interactive process the panel will finalize the review.

Task 6: Deliverables

Draft and Final reviews of documents, including individual reviewer's opinions

A full Administrative Record (to include all e-mails, drafts, ancillary materials)

Timetable of events

February 16, 2009	Discuss results with Science Subcommittee
March 2, 2009	Final Review completed and submitted to EARIP Program Manager
March 16, 2009	Administrative Record completed and submitted to EARIP Program Manager

Budget Estimate

SEI will be compensated on a time and actual expense basis with a “not-to exceed” cap of $29,100. SEI’s personnel time will be charged on an hourly basis as follows:

Dr. Courtney $200
Program assistants $65

These sums include all expenses (benefits, rents, insurance, overhead).

SEI shall pay each reviewer a lump sum stipend of $2000 s for the entire review.
